

Tomorrow's MARKET OPPORTUNITIES Today

Never again be outpaced by changing markets.

At OpenLink, we create world-class software solutions. With an open mind, we develop open links to the future with fully integrated, real-time, front- to back-office systems that are flexible, scalable and configurable. Systems with an open architecture designed to work as efficiently tomorrow as they do today.

Powerful and integrated, Endur is our trading, risk management and operations solution designed for the complex and ever-changing global energy markets. Combining advanced analytics and sophisticated physical and financial modeling capabilities within a robust transaction-processing environment, Endur delivers an adaptive risk management framework that allows you to see trading opportunities others cannot.

Capitalize on tomorrow's opportunities today; with Endur's flexible and scalable architecture you'll trade smarter, minimize risk, and manage operations with ease. We build the future into every product we develop today.
